

Tapestry Online Learning Journal

We create your child's development folder online using the Tapestry Online Learning Journal application. Each observation we make can now include notes, photographs and EYFS assessments, characteristics of learning and videos. You are emailed on a weekly basis when new observation entries are made and can comment on every observation and even add your own.

Using this application allows you to comment on your child's special moments and being able to add your own stories about your child's life outside of pre-school will also help their learning journey.

"This is amazing!! We have learned so much about what our child has been learning here in the month he's been attending..... Both via tapestry, and talking to the staff - much more than in the 3 years he's been attending another setting!!"

Observation by parent:

The screenshot shows a Tapestry observation entry titled "Writing numbers" added on 22 Dec 2015 at 08:34 PM. It includes a photograph of a child's hands writing numbers on a spiral notebook. The notes state: "wanted to do his numbers. He wrote 13, 4 and 5 correctly. He loves his numbers at the moment". Below the notes are comments from a mother and a staff member (Emma Green).

Writing numbers by [redacted] added 22 Dec 2015 08:34 PM

Notes

[redacted] wanted to do his numbers. He wrote 13, 4 and 5 correctly. He loves his numbers at the moment

MOTHER - 22 Dec 2015 08:36 PM
He also wrote 7 correctly and later asked how to do 8.

Emma Green - 24 Dec 2015 10:14 AM
Well done [redacted] Great to see he is showing an interest in numbers at home and pre-school! We will start focusing on numbers up to 10 in the new year.

Observation by key worker:

The screenshot shows a Tapestry observation entry titled "Rhyming" added on 17 Dec 2015 at 01:55 PM by Emma Green. It includes a note about a child's rhyming skills. Below the note are comments from Emma Green and the mother.

Rhyming by Emma Green added 17 Dec 2015 01:55 PM

2 assessments [redacted] Print

Notes

I asked [redacted] if he knew what rhymes with cat? He said "yeah! Mat, 'at!" [redacted] is beginning to show awareness of rhyme, and be able to continue a rhyming string. Well done [redacted]!

Emma Green - 18 Dec 2015 05:44 PM
We will continue looking at rhyming after Christmas, to develop [redacted] understanding.

MOTHER - 18 Dec 2015 09:20 PM
I can do some at home too X

"I love the tapestry online programme. It is a delight to see what she is doing and how well she is progressing. It makes it more personal for the parents."

"The new tapestry app makes it much more interactive and quick for me to see what my daughter has been doing - I love it!"

"Tapestry has been a great addition to the observation and assessment process. The fact that we can respond to observations immediately and add our own observations is really good."

"The tapestry online journal is fabulous we cannot praise it enough we love seeing what our daughter has been up to and how she is being assisted in developing."

"I look forward to seeing the comments and photos - this is great! Nice that we have the opportunity to communicate through it too."

"Tapestry shows me just how much you pack into a day!!"